Responsibilities include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Award planning, including initial kick-off meeting for all related parties.
- Formulate financial projections and revise award budgets as necessary.
- Analyze expenses and projected spending to maximize the use of available funds and ensure compliance with sponsor, university and Research Foundation requirements and policies.
- Assist with adhering to the specific reporting guidelines and requirements set by external sponsors, which include expectations for report format and content.
- Create internal financial reports and conduct meetings with faculty members to review their research portfolios effectively.
- Periodically review the effectiveness of the financial reporting process and meeting structure, adjusting as necessary to improve efficiency and communication.
- Serve as the liaison between PIs and various administrative units across UB, including central Office of Sponsored Projects.

Team Collaboration:

- Proven ability to work collaboratively as part of a team and serve as a resource for other research administration staff.
- Experience fostering a supportive environment, advocating for faculty members, and helping overcome challenges in achieving funding goals.

Interpersonal Skills:

- Relationship Building: Skill in building positive relationships with PIs, faculty members, and administrative colleagues.
- Advocacy: The capacity to advocate for the needs of PIs, foster a conducive atmosphere for realizing funding objectives, and maintain adherence to the intricate regulatory landscape of managing sponsored programs.
