The Center for Black Maternal Health and Reproductive Justice (CBMHRJ) was developed as an extension of the MOTHER Lab \(ML\). The vision and rationale of the CBMHRJ is to protect the Black birthing experience by advocating for quality, equitable, and respectful care in childbirth. The Center seeks to create a world where Black women can safely, efficiently, and comfortably receive equitable access to healthcare services without having to navigate through racism and/or discrimination in medical settings. The CBMHRJ envisions that the interdisciplinary research center will be integrated with faculty from all Tufts schools.

The mission of the CBMHRJ is to foster academic and community-engaged research in support of the Center's goals to conduct maternal health research with a focus on Black maternal health and eliminating inequities.

The main goal of the Center is to foster maternal health research at Tufts University School of Medicine, with a particular focus on improving the health of Black birthing persons and their babies by reducing maternal health disparities.

What You'll Do

We are looking for a Program Administrator to be responsible for organizing programs and activities for our 35 MOTHER Lab students. Under the guidance of the Unit Lead and Center Manager at the CBMHRJ, you will be tasked with developing programs to support the team's strategic direction, as well as creating and managing long term goals for the MIRAH Fellowship. You will also oversee developing budgets and operating plans for the MOTHER Lab and writing program funding proposals when necessary.

In collaboration with Director and Center Manager, the Program Administrator will develop goals and strategies for the MOTHER Lab and the MIRAH Fellowship. The Program Manager will also be expected to provide advanced, specialized subject matter knowledge to develop, implement, supervise, and evaluate the program.

- Under the guidance of the Unit Lead and Center Manager (includes, but is not limited to):
 - Manage program finances, operations, and human resources including hiring, training, and evaluation of lab members
 - Run annual lab retreat including preparation, scheduling, notes, and team follow-up
 - Run biweekly general lab meetings
 - Run biweekly co-chair meetings
