- Coordinate meetings and events for both internal and external participants, including the quarterly meetings of the Community Advisory Board, and UB Community Health Equity Research Institute seminars and workshops.
- Oversee the maintenance and updating of databases and maps of nonprofit organizations and community-based groups on the East Side of Buffalo.
- Ensure records of Center of Excellence program activities are documented in accordance with program procedures and are available to support ongoing program monitoring.
- Prepare regular reports on the progress and outcomes of CBPR efforts.

The Center of Excellence in Investigator Development and Community Engagement at the University at Buffalo (UB) Community Health Equity Research Institute was established with an award from the National Institute of Minority Health Disparities (NIMHD). Its purpose is to provide research support to early career investigators, engage the community in the development and implementation of research projects, and support the development of policies and other changes to reduce health disparities in the African American community. This approach is grounded in Community Based Participatory Research (CBPR) activities. The Project Manager works with scholars to design CBPR projects, disseminate research results and work for policy change, and manage the Community Partnership Grants.

This position is based at UB (Downtown Campus) and will involve work and programs at community sites. Transportation to and from sites will be required.
