students and for fulfilling the enrollment objectives set by the University. The Associate Director of Admissions will be responsible for the following:

- Implement and support the office's strategy for data collection, analysis, and presentation. Portfolio oversight typically involves long-term management of complex projects including dataanalysis and assessment, management of contributing staff members and student workers, delegation of project components, and the creation and presentation of training materials. Projects specific to this portfolio include, but are not limited to:
 - o Analyzing both applicant and enrollment data to identify trends and opportunities, and toevaluate the effectiveness of office initiatives.
 - O Monitoring and reporting on key performance indicators (KPIs) to inform strategic planning for recruitment, yield, and prospect funnel.
 - o Creating and/or contributing to presentations, reports, and deliverables appropriate for avariety of campus stakeholders.
 - O Synthesizing and communicating data, methods, conclusions, and recommendations in an effective and relevant manner.
- Participate in the undergraduate application review and selection processes, including theevaluation of applications in alignment with training protocol and participation in selectioncommittees. The Associate Director may be asked to take on leadership roles throughout theselection cycle through process management or committee chairing.
- Serve as an on-campus point-of-contact for visitors. Communicate with students, families, school/organization counselors, and the general public via in-person conversations, virtual formats, email, and phone.
- Liaise with campus partners, such as the Office of Graduate Admissions, the Office of Institutional Research, and the Student Services Technology Team, regarding data and project-based work.
- Liaise with external partners, such as College Board, Scoir, Common Application, and Coalition for College.
- Conduct virtual and in-person information sessions and workshops for a variety of audiences, both on-campus and off-campus.
- As requested by the Dean and/or Director, create, facilitate, or contribute to office training initiatives for admissions officer and/or administrative staff.
- Directly supervise 1-4 professional staff members and serve as a member of the ManagementTeam.
- Complete other projects and duties as assigned.

While this is a hybrid role, there is an expectation of regular campus presence throughout the year; some Associate Director roles may require greater campus presence due to portfolio needs. This position may have limited recruitment travel opportunities outside of the local area.
