Personnel (AP) coordinates and administers the School's academic personnel and instructional activities, thereby providing stewardship for approximately 50 percent of the School's operating resources. The AP group includes six analysts, one administrative officer, and an Assistant Dean of HR responsible for coordinating the group's functions and activities.

This position is critical because the AP team requires an experienced professional who can navigate the complex combination of UC, campus, and AP practices, policies and procedures. This includes applying an in-depth understanding of the professional field and independently performing the full range of responsibilities of this classification, including, as appropriate, recommending, developing, implementing, administering, coordinating, and/or evaluating AP policies, labor contracts, statutes, programs, and procedures covering academic recruitment, appointment, and advancement; compensation and salary administration, faculty welfare programs, visa procurement, benefits, payroll, training and development, faculty misconduct, and faculty equity. The position requires someone who can resolve moderate to complex academic personnel related issues that affect a broad range of academic titles, using practical and innovative methods.

- Working closely with the Associate Deans for Academic Affairs, the AP team, and affected faculty, creates documentation for academic review cases, including providing expertise on academic data and data collection systems related to academic review cases, assisting with case writing, partnering with the team to coordinate complex elements of critical cases so that they are submitted on time, providing expertise to support case success, directing faculty actions with regard to these processes, managing faculty leaves and sabbaticals and endowed chair appointments, leading the process of subject group reviews and the process of inviting external reviewers to annually evaluate one of the eight Haas school subject groups. This includes utilizing and administering complex processes within the AP Bears system.
- Administers policies and programs in wage and salary administration and training.
- Conducts data analysis with the strictest confidentiality.
- Prepared and tracks faculty submission of reports in compliance with APM-025
- Counsels Senate and non-Senate faculty and other academic staff concerning moderate to complex work-related problems. This includes acting as expert on complex academic personnel matters, providing advice and guidance on matters related to compensation programs, policies, and procedures; interpreting system-wide and campus policies, collective bargaining agreements, procedures, and practices related to academic compensation.
- In collaboration with other team members, serves as the expert on the AP manual and the Haas Bylaws and Policies, applying this knowledge to complex interpretation for senior staff and faculty.
- Utilize faculty data to provide needed information for Marketing and Communications.
- Maintain data in lists and databases.
- Maintain, review, and update data for critical reports.
